6. Recruits were expected to arrive on 1 July 1952; their basic training was scheduled to last three months. In June 1952, a six-week dog-handling course was being held in Pobezovice. As a rule, practice alerts were held four times a month. At quarters-defense alerts, the trenches around the quarters had to be occupied, while in case of "area alerts", the troops had to fall in in front of their quarters.
7. In daytime, the three-km security area along the border was kept under observation from two watchtowers, each occupied by three soldiers, and by sentries posted on continuously changing points. Mounted patrols were intermittently employed shortly before dawn and evening, for four to six hours. The watchtowers were not occupied at night, but seven to eight check-points were guarded in the company's sector. They were released when a thin wire was tripped. Only road blocks and saw horses but no trenches or wire entanglements were in the sector of the company stationed in Spalec. Work on the defensive installations near the quarters was still under way in June 1952.¹

25X1X Border Control in the Velky Senov Area

8. Prior to January 1952, SNE patrols of two men each who wore blue service color and, in some cases, were accompanied by dogs, guarded the frontier in the Velky Senov (Gross-Schoenen, C 51/F 68) area. They were armed with new Czech submachine guns. There were no frontier fortifications, obstacles or watchtowers.²
9. In late 1951, a barracks installation, which apparently was nearing completion, was observed from the railroad on the eastern edge of the Ceska Lipa (Boehm. Leipa, C 51/F 75). Work on the construction of installation was started by inmates of the Ceska Lipa Prison.

48th Infantry Regiment in Jihlava

10. Prior to 22 January 1951, the 48th Inf Regt, which has Utvar No 4425, was stationed in Jihlava (Iglau, C 50/K 61). Prior to November 1950, its headquarters and its 1st Bn were in Tabor (C 50/I C1), while other component units were in Pacov (C 50/K 22), Belhrimov (Pilgram, C 50/K 41) and Dasice (Daschitz, C 51/K 89). The regimental headquarters and the 1st Bn, to which an officers' school and an NCO school were attached, were quartered in the Stefanik Barracks on the western edge of Jihlava about 150 meters north of the road to Tabor, and the Large Barracks just northeast of the Main Square. The 2d Bn was quartered in the Zizkov Barracks on the south side of the road to Tabor. The 3d Bn was stationed in Dasice.³

2. [REDACTED] Comment. It is assumed that only the frontier between Karlsbad (Karlovy Vary) and Pressburg (Bratislava) is guarded by PS units wearing dog's head insignia and green service color. Reports from other sections of the frontier indicated that they were guarded by SNB personnel, who wore blue or red service color. [REDACTED] Furthermore, no deserter reports on PS units on this frontier or on the frontier to Poland have been received. Except for the border between Karlsbad and Pressburg, frontier control 25X1A appears to be exercised by border-police.

[REDACTED] Comment.

3. This information confirms that the 48th Inf Regt was transferred to Jihlava. This regiment belongs to the 1st Inf Div in C. Budejovice. It may be assumed that units of the 4th Tank Div, which has its headquarters in Tabor, are now quartered in Pacov and Pelhrimov, as information has been received to the effect that the barracks installations in Pacov would be used by motorized units after evacuation by the 48th Inf Regt.

4. [REDACTED] Comment. It is believed that Lieutenant Colonel Hugo Sevcik is identical with the colonel of the same name who, in June 1952, was in command of the 5th Mecz Div.
